

3rd Grade Reading

September 2013

By Sue Poduska

August brought new ownership for the gradereading.net sites, but we're still dedicated to quality reading for children at all grade levels. Our reviewing staff remains similar, and wonderful group of people they are.

For third graders, we published a total of five reviews in August and September, two of which are nonfiction.

The goal is to post three reviews per week, with as many nonfiction titles as possible to get children used to reading nonfiction.

As of September 25, 2013, we have five grade reading sites – first through fifth grades. It's been a ball setting up 1stgradereading.net with all the colorful book covers. We hope you enjoy reading about them.

“Themes of perseverance and overcoming all odds will leave a lasting impression with third grade readers. Authors ... present Washington's story in short chapters mixed with archival photographs, mock-ups, and illustrations to support reading comprehension.”
